Samsung C&T America's Renewable Energy Team develops renewable energy business throughout North and South America.

Our main concentration within the renewable energy industry is in the solar photovoltaic and wind development business.

Solar PV and Wind power systems are becoming an essential part of our current energy market and the world is aggressively pursuing replacing energy generation with renewable energy. Recently, Samsung has announced a 2.5 GW of Wind and Solar FA agreement with the Ontario government and will continue to expand throughout America in its utility and commercial scale renewable energy business portfolio.
